

B.C. Assessment is now getting serious about the values and classifications they are putting on your properties for the 2012 Assessment Roll. The roll will be finalized the first week of December.

On many properties, we have the opportunity to negotiate with the Assessor in a pre-roll capacity if we feel there is a benefit to do so. B.C. Assessment has a legal requirement for the disclosure of information from landlords. We feel there is merit to reviewing and detailing to the Assessor, in writing, any issues relevant to your property.

The purpose of pre-roll consultation is to try to mitigate any risk that becomes apparent from a review of information received on the subject property. Subjective issues are better received by the Assessor in pre-roll, as opposed to during an appeal, and reductions can often be negotiated at this stage.

If you wish to open a pre-roll consulting file, please email us a list of properties for review, or call to discuss.

Thank you,

Paul Sullivan
